

Weekly English Practice

25th June 2015
English Coaching Projects

weeklyenglishpractice.wordpress.com

10 websites for the summer

It's summer at last! That also means that it is the last week of June and that this is the last Weekly English Practice of the 'English Learning' year. So instead of giving you an article to read and listen to as normal, we have decided to give you links to websites where you can practice your reading and listening skills during the summer. Don't take a break from English this summer, take a break from work and use your free time to explore the online world of English websites and apps. See you again in September!

www.newsinlevels.com

Real news stories from around the world told in three levels. Read and listen to the basic version first, then the intermediate description. Finally, watch the original video and read the transcript. Updated several times a week. Mark it as a favourite in your phone's browser!

elpais.com/elpais/inenglish.html

El País, in English. It's that simple!

BBC Learning English

A wonderful site with many resources. We especially recommend '6 minute English' and 'Words in the News'.

www.anglo-link.com

Great videos that help you improve different aspects of your English. Thanks Minoo!

www.lyricstraining.com

Watch the video of your favourite song and fill in the gaps in the lyrics. This addictive game will give you hours of fun! Choose between Beginner, Intermediate, Advanced and Expert levels. You won't be able to stop!

<http://www.flo-joe.com>

Perhaps the best website on the whole internet for preparing Cambridge exams and practising the required skills. It has both free and paid services.

weeklyenglishpractice.wordpress.com

Access over two years of Weekly English Practice reading, writing, speaking and audio material.

www.ted.com/talks

Over 2000 short, inspiring talks that are free to watch and download. They have subtitles in English (and other languages) and you can read and print the transcript. Use the filters to choose topics, length, language etc. This is an incredible resource - use it!!

www.thelocal.es

News and events from Spain in English. This is an excellent website for reading a little English everyday. Mark it as a favourite in your phone's browser!

www.engvid.com

Learn English for free with 800+ video lessons by experienced native-speaker teachers. Grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, exam preparation and more!

A big thank you to everybody who came to our 5th anniversary party - we had great fun! We've had many great social events this year and we intend to continue in July and of course when the new course begins in October. We have plans for guided tours, a Curling evening, our 2nd Pintxo Competition and Fred Talks 2! We hope to see you there!

ALVARO

ANDONI

ALISON

DARREN

KEZ

FERNANDO

ROB

JOHN

All our Fred Talks were recorded and you can see them on our YouTube channel. Click on the Fred Talks playlist and discover... how to improve the rhythm of your English, why living abroad is good for you, 22 facts about Russia, what the difference between Irish and Irish English is, why we should ban bosses, if lyrics are important or not for enjoying music, why we won't be learning languages in the future, and how forming cooperatives is like falling in love and having children.